FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Book Release: Notes from My Phone

by Michelle Junot

“An accidental memoir for the information age”

Book release: December 6, 2016 at The Ivy Bookshop

About the book:

Michelle Junot has kept notes on her phone for years—what to pick up at the store, work-out logs, prayers, hopes, thoughts on life and death—all the while creating a snapshot of her life with an honesty that only occurs when not paying attention. In *Notes From My Phone (Mason Jar Press, 2016), Junot opens up her phone and her life to you. This collection of essays, to-do lists, vignettes, reminders and dreams mixes heart-felt memoir with the everyday marginalia that makes up a twenty-something’s life and day planner. The everyday is placed side-by-side with the universal, and in doing so, transcends to be more than the sum of its parts. If, “Life is what happens to you while you’re busy making other plans,” then *Notes From My Phone, celebrates life in all its tedious and troubling beauty.

About Mason Jar Press:

Mason Jar Press has been publishing handmade, limited-run chapbooks and full-length publications since 2014. The Press is dedicated to finding new and exciting work by writers that push the bounds of literary norms. While the work Mason Jar seeks to publish is meant to challenge status quos, both literary and culturally, it must also have significant merit in both those realms.
